Hein van den Berg (1980) studied philosophy at the University of Groningen. In 2004 he completed his MA with a thesis on transcendental arguments. In the years following he worked at the Vrije Universiteit, Amsterdam, preparing the present PhD thesis on Kant’s conception of proper science.