Contents

1 Introduction .............................................. 7

2 Effects of proximal and distal external foci of attention in novice and expert golfers ............... 23

3 Gaze in golf putting ................................. 39
   Effects of slope ........................................

4 Perception and action in golf putting .............. 67
   Skill differences reflect calibration ............... 67

5 No transfer of calibration between action and perception in learning a golf putting task .......... 107

6 Epilogue ................................................. 141

7 Samenvatting ........................................... 153
   (Summary in Dutch) ..................................

8 Dankwoord ............................................. 161
   (Acknowledgements in Dutch) ......................