Contents

Chapter 1  Introduction

Chapter 2  Cytology history preceding cervical cancer diagnosis:
            a regional analysis of 286 cases

Chapter 3  HPV testing on self-collected cervico-vaginal lavage specimens is an effective screening method for non-attendees of cervical screening: results from the PROHTECT cohort study

Chapter 4  Experience with high-risk human papillomavirus testing on vaginal brush-based self-samples of non-attendees of the cervical screening program

Chapter 5  Offering self-sampling for human papillomavirus testing to non-attendees of the cervical screening programme: Characteristics of the responders

Chapter 6  HPV16 and increased risk of recurrence after treatment for CIN

Chapter 7  Discussion & Summary

Chapter 8  Nederlandse samenvatting

List of publications

Acknowledgement

Curriculum Vitae