Contents

Chapter 1
General introduction 7

Chapter 2
Somatic multimorbidity and self-rated health in the older population 25

Chapter 3
Is self-rated health still sensitive for changes in disease and functioning among nonagenarians? 37

Chapter 4
Estimates of prospective change in self-rated health in older people are biased due to potential recalibration response shift 57

Chapter 5
‘How was your health three years ago?’ Predicting mortality in older adults using a retrospective change measure of self-rated health 79

Chapter 6
Seventeen-year time trend in poor self-rated health in older adults: changing contributions of chronic diseases and disability 95

Chapter 7
Are older adults and their general practitioners more in agreement? Comparing the accuracy of self-reported chronic diseases between 1992 and 2009 113

Chapter 8
General discussion 131

Summary 155

Samenvatting 161

Dankwoord 167

Acknowledgments

About the author

List of publications 171