Contents

Part I: Scope ......................................................................................................................... 11
   Chapter 1: Introduction and outline of this thesis .......................................................... 13
   Chapter 2: Burns to the head and neck: Epidemiology and predictors of surgery .... 23

Part II: Evidence based treatment .............................................................................. 39
   Chapter 3: Topical treatment for facial burns ............................................................. 41
      Cochrane Database Syst Rev 2013;1:CD008058
   Chapter 4: Early excision and grafting for burns ...................................................... 75
      Cochrane Database Syst Rev Submitted CD009715

Part III: Psychosocial impact ...................................................................................... 111
   Chapter 5: Patient reported facial scar assessment: directions for the professional . 113
      Burns 2014;40(2):347-53
   Chapter 6: Impact of facial burns: relationship between depressive symptoms, self-esteem and scar severity ........................................................................... 129
      Gen Hosp Psychiatry 2014;36(3):271-6
   Chapter 7: Summary and general discussion ............................................................. 145

Addendum ................................................................. 165
   Letter to the Editor
   Response to Letter to the Editor
   Samenvatting en discussie (Summary and discussion in Dutch)
   PhD portfolio
   Curriculum Vitae
   Bibliography
   Dankwoord (Acknowledgements)