

Acknowledgements

Wat wij niet allemaal leefden
wij stierven en maakten, wij deden aan grondige tederheid, oorlogen en afbraak
tot getuigen roepend, en zo werd het zwijgen taal

-- Gerrit Kouwenaar, bij wijze van leven

Before I start with the opening statements, I want to introduce and thank my team.

To begin with, Tanja and Wouter. Without them, there would be no book, only chaos. Your knowledge, humor, and the ability to confuse and enlighten at the same time is invaluable. You truly inspire me.

My colleagues at the VU, in Liverpool, and elsewhere, who became my friends, who made me think, who made me laugh, who made me love this work. The walks, the talks, the drinks, the songs. I will thank you all in person. Let me mention Lianne, Jillian, and Renske. My kindred spirits, my academic heart and conscience.

My wonderful family, Anna, Ben and Mirjam. You give me art, absurdism, and endless affection. I couldn't be more grateful.

And finally, Olivier. My soulmate. This book is for you.

Thanks.