Part VI

About the author
Petula Nijeboer was born and raised in Ermelo, the Netherlands, on the 23rd of June in 1987. Following secondary school (Chr. College Groevenbeek in Ermelo) and between 2005 and 2012, Petula studied medicine at the VU University in Amsterdam. After her medical degree she was accepted as a PhD student at the VU University Medical Center and started the work that led to this dissertation. In 2014 she started her training in gastroenterology and hepatology which took place in the Kennemer Gasthuis (later the Spaarne Gasthuis). The last years of her gastroenterology and hepatology training will (hopefully) be completed at the VU University medical center.
