Table of content

Chapter 1: Introduction

Part I: Childhood psychopathology: assessment and heritability

Chapter 2: Psychopathology in 7-year-old children: differences in maternal and paternal ratings and the genetic epidemiology

Chapter 3: Differences in male and female assessments of childhood psychopathology in parental and teacher ratings of 5, 7, 10 and 12 year-old boys and girls

Chapter 4: Genetic and environmental influences on conduct and antisocial personality problems in childhood, adolescence and adulthood

Part II: Aggregation of psychopathology in a clinical sample of children and their parents

Chapter 5: Spousal resemblance in psychopathology: a comparison of parents of children with and without psychopathology

Chapter 6: Parents of children with psychopathology: psychiatric problems and the association with their child’s problems

Chapter 7: Which parents are at risk for psychopathology? A study in families with children with psychopathology

Chapter 8: The longitudinal association between parental and children’s psychiatric symptoms. A naturalistic clinical study

Chapter 9: Summary and discussion

Nederlandse samenvatting

References

Appendices
  - Appendix I: Clinical data collection
  - Appendix II: Questionnaire about demographical information

List of publications

Dankwoord