TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface ........................................................................................................ 1

Introduction .................................................................................................. 2
1. Can the West be converted? A personal challenge ......................... 2
2. Can the West be converted? A theological challenge .................... 5
3. Theology Contextualized ........................................................................ 6
4. The Western context .................................................................................. 11
5. Systematic Theology ................................................................................ 15
6. Contextualized Christology .................................................................... 17
7. Hendrikus Berkhof and Colin Gunton .................................................. 19
8. Research question .................................................................................... 21
9. Methodology .............................................................................................. 22
10. Relevance ................................................................................................ 22
11. Outline ..................................................................................................... 25

Part I: HENDRIKUS BERKHOF ................................................................. 27
1. Introduction to Hendrikus Berkhof ......................................................... 27
2. The method with which Berkhof reads the Western context ... 32
   2.1 Introduction: the importance of reading the context ................. 32
   2.2 Discern the questions, answers, and ‘Lebensgefühl’ in the context ........................................................................ 35
   2.3 Discern ‘the spirit of the age’ within the church ......................... 38
   2.4 Discern in light of the gospel ............................................................. 40
   2.5 Respond dialectically, embracing tension and crisis .................. 43
   2.6 Respond with contextualized theology ....................................... 46
3. The content of Berkhof’s reading of the Western context ....... 54
   3.1 The deep structure of Berkhof’s theology and the divided worldview of modernity ......................................................... 56
   3.2 ‘World’ in a climate of revolution and evolution ......................... 62
   3.3 The ‘Human being’ in a climate of existentialism and anthropocentrism ........................................................................ 72
   3.4 ‘God’ in a climate of empiricism and functionalism ...................... 81
   3.5 Other themes? .................................................................................. 91
4. The method with which Berkhof approaches Christology ........ 94
   4.1 Christology: ‘from behind,’ ‘from below,’ ‘from above,’ and ‘from before’ ........................................................................... 94
   4.2 Christology: a method shaped by the triple-star system .............. 97
5. The content of Berkhof’s Christology ........................................ 102
   5.1 Jesus Christ: The new human covenant partner ..................... 103
   5.2 Jesus Christ: Bringer of salvation in history ......................... 106
   5.3 Jesus Christ: The Son of God ........................................... 108
   5.4 Christology and the contextual triad .................................. 114

6. Evaluation of Berkhof ......................................................... 118
   6.1 The methodology of reading the Western context ................. 118
   6.2 The content of reading the Western context ....................... 121
   6.3 The methodology of Christology ...................................... 125
   6.4 The content of Christology ............................................ 128

Part II: COLIN GUNTON ....................................................... 134

1. Introduction to Colin Gunton .............................................. 134
2. The method with which Gunton reads the Western context ....... 145
   2.1 Introduction: an analogy of Gunton’s approach to theology .... 146
   2.2 Discern the context by expressing and justifying the gospel ... 149
   2.3 Discern with a theological reading .................................... 151
   2.4 Discern with a dialectical reading ..................................... 154
   2.5 Discern with an awareness of the impact of idolatry on human perception ................................................................. 156

3. The content of Gunton’s reading of the Western context ....... 161
   3.1 The deep structure of Gunton’s theology and the immanence of modernity ................................................................. 161
   3.2 Paradoxical features of Modernity (I): Rationality ............... 172
   3.3 Paradoxical features of Modernity (II): Time ...................... 175
   3.4 Paradoxical features of Modernity (III): Freedom ............... 178
   3.5 Paradoxical features of Modernity (IV): Human community ... 180
   3.6 The fragmentation of modern culture and the lack of relational ontology ................................................................. 181

4. The method with which Gunton approaches Christology ....... 185
   4.1 The gospel and methodology in Christology ....................... 185
   4.2 A theological reading and methodology in Christology .......... 186
   4.3 A dialectical reading and methodology in Christology .......... 187
   4.4 Idolatry and methodology in Christology (I): dualism .......... 188
   4.5 Idolatry and methodology in Christology (II): a false time-frame .... 192
   4.6 Idolatry and methodology in Christology (III): overstressing human power .......................................................... 195
   4.7 Idolatry and methodology in Christology (IV): plurality without unity ................................................................. 197
   4.8 The fragmentation of modern culture and Christology’s lack of cosmic context .......................................................... 198

5. The content of Gunton’s Christology ...................................... 199
   5.1 Jesus Christ: Lord of creation and creature, God and man ...... 200
   5.2 Jesus Christ: the revelation of God’s eternal love in time ....... 203
Part III: Contours of a Western gospel at the beginning of the 21st century

1. The gospel as star-theme
   1.1 What is the gospel?
   1.2 The relation between the gospel and the context

2. The methodology of reading the Western context
   2.1 Learning about contextualization from the Third World church
   2.2 A missional hermeneutic
   2.3 A gospel-centered model for reading the context

3. The content of reading the Western context
   3.1 The ‘Age of authenticity’
   3.2 The lens of worship, salvation, and (crucified) life-style
   3.3 A dialogue with Berkhof and Gunton

4. The methodology of Christology
   4.1 Approaching contextualized Christology through a contextualized gospel
   4.2 A dialogue with Berkhof and Gunton

5. The content of Christology
   5.1 A gospel-narrative in the Western context
   5.2 A gospel-salvation in the Western context
   5.3 A gospel-frame in the Western context
   5.4 A confession of Jesus Christ from the Western context

Bibliography

Summary